

The Annual Holiday House Tour, produced by the Friends of the Nashua Symphony, offers surprises, holiday delights and music of the season for tour goers this year. Five homes in Nashua have been dressed in a variety of holiday themes by new faces in the local interior design community and a few talented homeowners.

You can begin the tour at 4 Fireside Circle, where homeowners Bill and Jennifer Horn are opening their richly decorated traditional home with the help of designer Cherly Downing of C. Downing Interiors. Pam Condon, of Ideas in Bloom, will arrange lovely holiday greens and flowers to compliment the holiday display. Victorian singers, courtesy of Big Smile Productions, will be in full garb and singing old fashion carols on Sunday.

Moving down to 11 Adella Drive, homeowners Derek and Donna Brink are opening their colorful home with the help of designers Sarah Matthews, Julie Wood and Laurel Guertin. Be sure to see the Brinks' award-winning playroom and bonus room designed by Christopher Cahill. The New Hampshire Orchid society will once again be bringing in beautiful orchid plants to delight viewers with their exotic blooms.

In the north end at 2 Monadnock St., Tracy Bennett has opened her extensively remodeled New Englander filled with contemporary and unique design and holiday décor. Vocalists will be on hand to add to the festive spirit.

At 24 Fairhaven Drive, homeowners, Robert Godin and Thomas Glynn and turned their decorating skills to the holidays and invited tour goers to see their reproduction antique home filled with collectible antiques set in a holiday theme.

It's a Victorian Christmas at the home of Robert and Beverly Frasca at 5 Mystic Court on the city's west side. Designers Kristin Judge and Malinda Ceaser are creating a winter wonderland in the entry along with Santa and his reindeer arriving in the kitchen. The holiday theme is complemented with a display of the works of area artists. StageCoach Productions of Nashua will have a group of eight singers harmonizing holiday tunes on both days.

Finally, pick up a few gifts at the Holiday Boutique at Langdon Place from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m on both days. Complimentary refreshments and more holiday music are sure to enliven your spirits. Flowers on display are offered by the Merrimack Flower Shop and Greenhouse and the room is decorated by the Nashua Garden Club with April Colby and staff members of Langdon Place.

The Friends of the Nashua Symphony (FONS) is an organization dedicated to supporting the Nashua Symphony. All proceeds from the tour help keep professional classical music in our community.
